

Simeon White, Christian, conservative, and small business owner

You might know me from canvassing for Poetry's incorporation, working with me on the Town Hall, or from the Poetry meetings. Perhaps you've seen my name in the Poetry Post or we've swapped howdys at the Tac & Ag. At the very least, I'm sure you've had the opportunity to drive by Dry Creek cemetery where my family and I volunteered many hours to clean up our town and honor those who founded it. In any case, I'm proud to have you as a neighbor in our wonderful Town of Poetry Texas.

I work at our family owned and operated small business, Royalty Soaps, where we proudly provide jobs to several residents of Poetry. My sister, her husband and I grew Royalty Soaps over several years until one day Terrell confronted our business with false zoning allegations and forced us to shut down with a 30-day notice. It was only later we found out this was done to squeeze higher property taxes from us. By God's good grace, we were able to move our operations to our home town, right here in Poetry Texas! But through that trail was born a determination to defend the freedom and private property rights that Terrell denied us.

Given the chance, I'll work with my fellow council members to keep taxes low, limit the power and expansion of development and real estate companies, and help maintain our roads while keeping the price low through county assistance. I believe in keeping Poetry a small town, with small volunteer-based government, and with even smaller property taxes. And should I be elected, I'll uphold and protect Faith, Family, and Farmland for my neighbors, friends, and We The People of Poetry Texas.

Where can you find me?

On the weekdays you'll find me in Poetry, at our small family owned and operated business. I believe in getting up before the sun rises and making every hour count. Weekends I'll be volunteering for Poetry, working on my latest DIY project, and fellowshipping with the Church. But when evening roll around, you'll find me with my family, reading, or perhaps enjoying our clear, starry Texas sky.

You can reach me at simeonawhite@yahoo.com with any questions or concerns!
