

Hi! I am Haley Dennis! I was raised locally in what is now considered Union Valley. I graduated from Royse City High School in 2011. I graduated from Texas Christian University with a Bachelors degree in Communication Studies in 2015. After graduating college I continued to live in Fort Worth for my first "big girl" job, in multi family asset management. 2016 I moved back home to be closer to family and my now husband. I continued to work in asset management until late 2018 when I decided to get my real estate license. In 2019 God set a different career path in front of me. My family needed my help due to some health issues my grandmother had suffered. My family owns a turfgrass farm with 4 retail outlets around the metroplex that sell grass, sand, and stone. Throughout my childhood I had worked there occasionally, but this time I had to step into a much larger role. Over seeing retail operations, website, social media, and advertising.

In 2020 I married my husband, Matthew Dennis. The Dennis Family is a Poetry legacy with history going back as far as 1848. My husband is a firefighter/EMT and rancher. He and his family are major contributors to the farming and ranching in this community. Our family runs cattle, manages hay, and pasture spraying here in Poetry. Preserving our rural way of life is the utmost importance to me. This is our livelihood.

Together Matthew and I have 2 beautiful daughters, and it's important to me to teach our girls how to care for their home, but their home is more than just four walls. This community is their home. It needs to be cared for.

The term public servant has been forgotten in this town. I truly believe that everyone in this town deserves to have their voice be heard. There should be more communication and transparency between our elected officials and citizens. We are still a small town and regardless of one's views on topics citizens should still be met with respect and a smile.
